After you ordered MusicReader you will get a license file (normally license.lic) by e-mail. Save this file to a temporary location (for example your Documents folder) on your computer and start MusicReader to install it.

There are two ways to install this evaluation license:

1. If your previous license is expired or corrupt, you can choose a new license at the start-up of MusicReader.

2. Otherwise you can install the new license in this way:

Open MusicReader

Go to More

Go to Settings

Under the tab "License" there is a button "Install License".

Click this to specify where the License.lic file is saved and press Open.

MusicReader will ask for a restart and afterwards your license will be activated.
